

World Partner Network

Memorandum of Understanding (MoU)

between

The British Institute of Radiology (BIR) and Federacion Argentina de Radiologia

The aim of the BIR World Partner Network is to build a community of international societies with the shared goal of advancing the knowledge and understanding of all our individual members and thus improving the scope and value of imaging and radiation oncology for patients across the world.

By participating, societies can offer further benefits to their members, promote events and initiatives to a wider audience and establish a long term relationship with the British Institute of Radiology and participating members.

The BIR agrees to the following for participating societies:

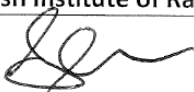

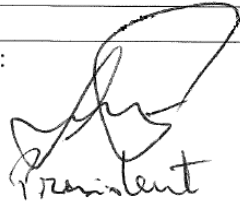

- Provide free research and educational resources to pass on to members
- Offer eligibility for selected BIR prizes, awards, and bursaries
- Offer opportunities to submit posters to the BIR Annual Congress
- Reduced fees for BIR conferences and events, and discounts on BIR membership
- Reciprocal advertising (details to be agreed between the partners)
- Occasional free printed publications.

The partner society agrees to:

- Provide a regular named contact person at the member society
- Work together to develop and implement a regular procedure for promotion
- Keep members informed about the BIR benefits they are entitled to, and distribute free materials provided for members (details to be agreed between the partners)

Other benefits may be introduced if approved by both organisations.

We agree to work collaboratively as a partner society of the BIR World Partner Network.
